An investment is presented as an investment in a subsidiary when the Company has control over the investee, Control is the power to govern the financial and operating policies of an enterprise or business so as to obtain economic benefits from its activities,

An investment is considered to give control over the investee when the Company holds more than 50% of the ownership interest, unless such ownership does not confer control, Even if the Company holds 50% or less of the ownership interest, it may still obtain control if it has:

- (i) Power over more than 50% of the voting rights by virtue of an agreement with other investors;
- (ii) Power to govern the financial and operating policies of the entity under a statute or agreement;
- (iii) Power to appoint or remove the majority of the members of the Board of Directors (or equivalent governing body); or
- (iv) Power to cast the majority of votes at meetings of the Board of Directors (or equivalent governing body),

The initial recognition date of an investment in a subsidiary acquired during the period is the date on which the Company obtains actual control over the investee, In the Company's separate financial statements, investments in subsidiaries are accounted for at cost (purchase price and directly attributable acquisition costs) less any provision for impairment losses, The provision for impairment is determined based on accumulated losses in the financial statements of the subsidiary and may be reversed when the subsidiary becomes profitable, Any increase or decrease in the provision for impairment of financial investments is recognized in financial expenses during the period,

d) Investments in other entities

Investments in equity instruments of other entities include those where the Company does not have control, joint control, or significant influence over the investee,

These investments are initially recognized at cost, including purchase price or contributed capital plus directly attributable costs, Dividends and profits relating to periods prior to the acquisition date are deducted from the carrying amount of the investment, Dividends and profits relating to periods after the acquisition date are recognized as income, Share dividends are recorded by tracking the increase in the number of shares only, without recognizing their value,

Provision for impairment of investments in equity instruments of other entities is made at the interim reporting date when there is evidence of a decline in value compared to cost, as follows:

NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

- For listed shares or investments with reliably measurable fair value, the provision is based on the market value of the shares,
 - For investments where fair value cannot be reliably measured at the reporting date, the provision is determined as the difference between the actual contributed capital of all parties in the investee and the actual equity, multiplied by the Company's ownership percentage over the total contributed capital of all parties,
- Any increase or decrease in the provision for impairment of investments in equity instruments of other entities at the reporting date is recognized in financial expenses,

d) Accounting methods for other transactions related to financial investments

- Other financial investments are initially recognized at cost, including purchase price and directly attributable costs,
- Subsequent to initial recognition, financial investments are carried at cost less any provision for impairment (if any),
- Dividends and distributed profits from investments are recognized as financial income when the Company has the right to receive them,
- Upon disposal or transfer of investments, the difference between the selling price and the carrying amount is recognized as financial income or financial expenses in the period,
- The Company makes provisions for impairment of financial investments in accordance with current regulations when there are indications of impairment; such provisions are reversed when the value of the investment recovers,

6. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR RECEIVABLES

Receivables are presented at their carrying amounts less allowance for doubtful debts, The classification of receivables into trade receivables and other receivables is determined based on the following principles:

- Trade receivables reflect amounts due from customers arising from commercial transactions (sale and purchase of goods and services) between the Company and independent buyers;
- Other receivables reflect non-commercial receivables that are not related to sale and purchase transactions,

Allowance for doubtful debts is made for receivables that are overdue as stipulated in economic contracts, commitments, or debt agreements, for which the Company has made repeated collection efforts but has not been able to recover, The overdue period is determined based on the original repayment terms under the initial sales contract, without considering any debt rescheduling between the parties; or for receivables not yet due but where the debtor has gone bankrupt, is undergoing liquidation, is missing, or has absconded, The allowance is reversed when the debts are recovered, Any increase or decrease in the allowance for doubtful debts at the reporting date is recognized in administrative expenses,

(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

7. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR INVENTORIES

- Inventory recognition principle: Inventories are recognized at cost, Cost includes purchase costs, conversion costs, and other directly attributable costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition,
- Inventory valuation method: Inventory is valued using the weighted average method,
- Inventory accounting method: The Company applies the perpetual inventory method for accounting purposes,
- Provision for inventory obsolescence: A provision is made when the net realizable value is lower than cost, Net realizable value is the estimated selling price less estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale,
The provision is reversed when the net realizable value of inventories increases,
- Allocation of raw materials and supplies: Costs of raw materials and supplies are allocated based on actual consumption or reasonable norms in line with the Company's production and business characteristics,
- Accounting policy for inventories related to onerous contracts: For contracts with significant risks, the Company assesses expected losses and recognizes corresponding expenses when the estimated costs to fulfill the contract exceed the expected economic benefits to be derived from such contracts,

8. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES AND DEPRECIATION OF TANGIBLE FIXED ASSETS (INCLUDING PERENNIAL PLANTS BEARING PERIODIC YIELDS, WORKING ANIMALS), INTANGIBLE FIXED ASSETS, FINANCE LEASE ASSETS, AND INVESTMENT PROPERTIES

8.1. Accounting principles and depreciation of tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are recognized at cost and presented in the Statement of Financial Position under the headings: cost, accumulated depreciation, and net book value,

The recognition and depreciation of tangible fixed assets are carried out in accordance with Vietnamese Accounting Standard No, 03 – Tangible Fixed Assets, Circular No, 99/2022/TT-BTC, and other relevant legal regulations,

The cost of tangible fixed assets includes:

- For purchased assets: purchase price (less trade discounts or reductions), non-refundable taxes, and directly attributable costs necessary to bring the asset to a condition ready for use;
- For constructed assets: value of completed works upon handover, directly related costs, and registration fees (if any);
- For self-constructed or self-manufactured assets: actual production cost and costs of installation and trial operation,

(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

For assets already put into use but not yet finalized, the Company temporarily records the increase in cost and depreciates them; upon finalization, the cost and related depreciation are adjusted accordingly,

Subsequent expenditures after initial recognition are capitalized into the asset's cost when it is probable that they will increase future economic benefits from the use of the asset, Expenditures that do not meet this criterion are recognized as expenses in the period,

Tangible fixed assets are depreciated using the straight-line method based on their estimated useful lives, Assets are classified into groups with similar nature and use in the Company's production and business activities,

The specific depreciation periods are as follows:

Asset Type	Time of usage (Years)
Buildings, Structures	08 - 35
Machinery, Equipment	05 - 10
Vehicles	07 - 12
Management Tools, Equipment	03 - 15

8.2. Accounting principles and amortization of intangible fixed assets

Intangible fixed assets are recognized at cost and presented in the Statement of Financial Position under the headings: cost, accumulated amortization, and net book value,

The recognition and amortization of intangible fixed assets are carried out in accordance with Vietnamese Accounting Standard No, 04 – Intangible Fixed Assets, Circular No, 99/2022/TT-BTC, and other relevant legal regulations,

The cost of intangible fixed assets includes all costs incurred by the Company to acquire the asset up to the point when the asset is ready for use,

Subsequent expenditures after initial recognition are recognized as expenses in the period, unless such expenditures are directly attributable to a specific intangible fixed asset and are expected to generate additional future economic benefits from that asset,

When an intangible fixed asset is disposed of or sold, its cost and accumulated amortization are derecognized; any resulting difference is recognized as other income or other expenses in the period,

NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

The Company's intangible fixed assets mainly comprise accounting software and are amortized using the straight-line method over an estimated useful life of 3 years,

9. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR BIOLOGICAL ASSETS

Biological assets are recognized at cost, including direct costs incurred to bring the assets to their ready-for-use condition,

During the holding period, biological assets are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation (if any) and impairment provisions,

Costs related to biological assets are recognized as production and business expenses in the period, unless capitalized in accordance with regulations,

10. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR BUSINESS COOPERATION CONTRACTS

Business cooperation contracts are accounted for based on their economic substance:

- Where the Company has control over assets and bears obligations: it recognizes the related assets, liabilities, revenues, and expenses;
- Where the Company only participates in profit sharing: it recognizes its share of revenue or expenses in accordance with the contractual proportion,

11. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR PREPAID EXPENSES

Prepaid expenses are costs incurred that relate to multiple accounting periods,

These costs are initially recognized at cost and allocated to production and business expenses over time or based on the level of benefits received,

12. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR TRADE PAYABLES

Trade payables are recognized at the amounts payable,

Payables denominated in foreign currencies are translated at actual exchange rates at the transaction dates and remeasured at the end of the accounting period in accordance with regulations,

13. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR DIVIDENDS AND PROFIT DISTRIBUTION PAYABLE

Dividends and profits payable are recognized as liabilities when there is a resolution on profit distribution by the General Meeting of Shareholders or the Board of Directors in accordance with regulations,

These amounts are recorded at the amounts payable,

14. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR ACCRUED EXPENSES

Accrued expenses are expenses that have not yet been incurred but relate to the current accounting period,

These are recognized as expenses in the period on the basis of matching revenues and expenses and are measured on a reasonable basis,

NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

15. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR UNEARNED REVENUE

Unearned revenue represents amounts received or to be received that do not yet meet the conditions for revenue recognition in the period,

These amounts are recognized as liabilities and are allocated to revenue over time or based on the fulfillment of obligations,

16. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR PROVISIONS

Provisions are recognized when:

- The Company has a present obligation arising from past events;
- It is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation;
- The amount of the obligation can be reliably estimated,

Provisions are measured based on the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the obligation at the reporting date,

17. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR DEFERRED CORPORATE INCOME TAX (IF ANY)

Deferred corporate income tax is determined based on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the Financial Statements and their tax bases,

- Deferred tax assets are recognized when it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which deductible temporary differences can be utilized;
 - Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences,
- Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates expected to apply when the asset is realized or the liability is settled,

18. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR BORROWINGS AND FINANCE LEASE LIABILITIES

Borrowings and finance lease liabilities are initially recognized at the fair value of the proceeds received, net of directly attributable transaction costs,

Subsequently, they are measured at the outstanding payable amounts,

Borrowing costs are recognized as financial expenses in the period unless capitalized in accordance with regulations,

19. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR BORROWING COSTS AND CAPITALIZATION

Borrowing costs include interest and other costs directly related to borrowings,

Borrowing costs are recognized as expenses in the period, except where they are directly attributable to the acquisition, construction, or production of qualifying assets, in which case they are capitalized as part of the asset's cost,

Capitalization of borrowing costs is suspended or ceased when substantially all activities necessary to prepare the asset for its intended use or sale are complete,

NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

20. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR CONVERTIBLE BONDS

- Convertible bonds are initially recognized at the proceeds received from issuance;
- The liability component is recognized as a liability, while the conversion option (if identifiable) is recognized in equity in accordance with regulations;
- Bond issuance costs are amortized to financial expenses over the term of the bonds;
- Upon conversion into shares, the carrying amount of the bonds is transferred to equity in accordance with regulations,

21. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR EQUITY

- Principles for recognizing owners' contributed capital, share premium, convertible bond options, and other equity

Owners' contributed capital is recognized based on the actual amounts contributed by shareholders/owners,

Share premium is recognized as the difference between the issuance price and the par value of shares,

The conversion option component of convertible bonds (if any) is recognized in equity at its value determined at the issuance date,

Other equity components are recognized at their actual incurred values in accordance with regulations,

- Principles for recognizing revaluation surplus of assets

Revaluation surplus is recognized in equity when there is a decision from competent authorities in accordance with legal regulations,

The treatment of such differences is carried out in accordance with prevailing regulations,

- Principles for recognizing exchange differences

Exchange rate differences arising are recognized in financial income or financial expenses in the period,

Where exchange differences relate to basic construction investments or are permitted to be recognized in equity, they are accounted for in accordance with current regulations,

- Principles for recognizing undistributed earnings

Undistributed earnings reflect the Company's after-tax results that have not yet been distributed, The distribution of profits is carried out based on resolutions of the General Meeting of Shareholders or the Board of Directors and in compliance with current legal regulations,

(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

22. PRINCIPLES AND METHODS FOR REVENUE AND OTHER INCOME RECOGNITION

- Revenue from sale of goods and provision of services

- Revenue from sale of goods: Recognized when all the following conditions are satisfied: the Company has transferred substantially all risks and rewards of ownership of the goods to the buyer; the Company no longer retains managerial involvement or control over the goods; revenue can be measured reliably; it is probable that economic benefits will flow to the Company; and the related costs can be measured reliably, Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable, excluding amounts collected on behalf of third parties,

- Revenue from services: Recognized when the outcome of the transaction can be measured reliably, Where services are rendered over multiple periods, revenue is recognized based on the stage of completion at the reporting date,

- Revenue from construction contracts: Recognized using the percentage-of-completion method when the outcome can be measured reliably, Where the outcome cannot be reliably estimated, revenue is recognized only to the extent of costs incurred that are likely to be recoverable,

- Financial income includes interest on deposits, interest on loans, dividends, profit distributions, and other financial income, Interest income is recognized on an accrual basis; dividends and profit distributions are recognized when the Company's right to receive payment is established,

- Other income

Other income comprises income not arising from the Company's ordinary business activities, including proceeds from disposal of assets, penalties, compensations, and other income, Other income is recognized when it is probable that economic benefits will flow to the Company and can be measured reliably,

23. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR REVENUE DEDUCTIONS

Revenue deductions include trade discounts, sales allowances, and sales returns, These items are recognized separately and deducted from revenue in the period in which they arise, Revenue deductions are recognized when there is sufficient evidence of such reductions and their amounts can be measured reliably,

24. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR COST OF GOODS SOLD

Cost of goods sold comprises the cost of goods, finished products, and services sold during the period,

Cost is determined in accordance with the related revenue and recognized as an expense in the period,

The determination of cost of goods sold is based on the inventory valuation method applied by the Company,

(These notes form an integral part of and should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements)

25. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR FINANCIAL EXPENSES

Financial expenses include borrowing costs, exchange losses, provisions for impairment of financial investments, and other financial expenses,

Financial expenses are recognized in the period, except where they are capitalized in accordance with regulations,

Exchange losses are recognized based on actual occurrence and remeasured at the end of the period in accordance with regulations,

26. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR SELLING EXPENSES AND ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES

Selling expenses and administrative expenses are costs incurred in relation to the Company's sales activities and general management,

These expenses are recognized on a matching basis, based on actual occurrence, and recorded as expenses in the period,

Where expenses relate to multiple periods, they are allocated reasonably to the relevant periods,

27. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES FOR DISPOSAL AND LIQUIDATION OF FIXED ASSETS AND INVESTMENT PROPERTIES

Upon disposal or liquidation of fixed assets or investment properties, the Company derecognizes the cost and accumulated depreciation of the assets,

The difference between the selling price and the net book value is recognized as other income or other expenses in the period,

Costs related to disposal or liquidation are recognized as other expenses,

28. PRINCIPLES AND METHODS FOR RECOGNIZING CURRENT AND DEFERRED CORPORATE INCOME TAX EXPENSES (INCLUDING ADDITIONAL CORPORATE INCOME TAX UNDER GLOBAL MINIMUM TAX REGULATIONS)

Current corporate income tax expense is determined based on taxable income for the period and the applicable tax rate,

Where additional corporate income tax arises under global minimum tax regulations (if any), such tax is recognized as corporate income tax expense in the period in accordance with regulations,

Deferred corporate income tax expense is determined based on temporary differences between the carrying amounts and tax bases of assets and liabilities,

Total corporate income tax expense for the period includes both current and deferred tax,

29. OTHER ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES AND METHODS

Other accounting principles and methods are applied by the Company in accordance with Vietnamese Accounting Standards and Circular No, 99/2022/TT-BTC,

For transactions not specifically prescribed, the Company applies accounting based on the economic substance of the transaction and relevant legal regulations,
